About Hockley Mint

Established in Birmingham's Jewellery Quarter in 1953, Hockley Mint is an Employee-Owned business committed to exceptional quality and standard-setting British craftsmanship across casting, precious metal alloying, finished fine jewellery production and bespoke design. The name associated with its award-winning bridal mounts and wedding bands, Wedfit®, has become immediately recognisable in the trade and is often borrowed to explain the perfect partnership of engagement rings and wedding bands.

Through the combined efforts of multiple generations, Hockley Mint has grown into one of the largest independent jewellery manufacturers in Europe, offering everything from hand-carved waxes and diamond-setting to rapid prototyping, CAD/CAM design, 3D printing and complete ready-to-wear collections. By utilising the services of Hockley Mint, customers can truly tap into the spirit of British Made and support independent and traditional British manufacturing.
